RE: 40' Reefer Container, OOLU648112-7, arrived on OOCL Ho Chi Minh City v 036E, Sep 25, 2019 @ Long Beach, CA.

Here are the facts:

- on 9/11/2019 at CBP "7H" N.I.I. exam hold was placed (Non-Intrusive Inspection)
- on 9/25, container was discharged
- after a few days, several calls were made to the terminal asking for exam update, we were told that exam was scheduled for that evening.
- the exam was completed on Oct 3 at 9:27pm
- on Fri morning Oct 4, both the terminal and OOCL were asked for demurrage relief, both denied our request.
- Since reefer needs to be picked-up and delivered the same day, this was not possible on Friday.
- container was picked up on Monday, Oct 7
- Total demurrage paid was $2,680.00
- Fees paid to OOCL for exam were $570.00
- Carrier/terminal did grant exemption from appointment requirement for pick-up

I spoke with the customs exam team about exam procedure, and he indicated it was up to the terminal to stage the container for exam and advise CBP by email. Apparently this delay was not due to CBP.

They examine 20-30 containers per evening at the terminal.

We believe that this situation did not warrant any demurrage being assessed. We were not provided any breakdown of charges for the $2,680.00.

We request that the identity of the shipper and importer be kept confidential.

Enclosed are some supporting docs.

Thank you

Regrettably, we are unable to extend the LFD especially as the hold up here is due to late customs inspection release .

pls pay your demurrage directly to www.emodal.com
